

YouTube or Vimeo video

PRODIAGS

Example of video usage

Prodiags 5 allows you to use Vimeo or YouTube video in the Study Sections.

Both video services are excellent regarding video and audio quality.

From the educational point of view, the most significant difference is that YouTube is advertising-funded and ads may direct the student to other videos.

Vimeo is funded by video publishers and doesn't display external ads. In Vimeo, you can also adjust the access to your video, for example, by limiting it only to Prodiags 5 URL lms.prodiags.eu.

NOTE!

The one who links the video is also responsible for the copyright.

If you're not the copyright owner of the video, make sure you have the permission of the owner before linking it to Prodiags. It's recommended that you archive your licenses thoroughly to avoid any conflicts.

Adding YouTube or Vimeo Video to Study Section

From the ADMIN menu, select the "Add or Edit Module" function. Add a new or Modify an existing module. If you created a new module, you must first save the module's basic information:

- Module name
- Module ID, ie a unique ID or product number
- Module topic
- Module language

When the module is ready, select "Add new" under the header "Study".

Choose "YouTube or Vimeo Video" as the new sections type.

Section Order Number*

Section Name*

Content Source

Content ID

Publicity

Enter a name and a Section Order Number for the module.
The Section Order Number affects the order in which the course module are displayed in the menu.

Video ID can be found in the URL